Metroid Medley

Composed by Hirokazu 'Hip' Tanaka

This week I decided to go with a relatively normal pick, instead of my usual off-the-wall selections. Though this one is particularly special, as it was part of an 'Arranged Cassette' that was released in Japan almost 20 years ago! One side featured three remixed tracks from Palte na's Mirror

, better known as

here in the states. The other side featured three tracks from Tanaka's other work at the time, Metroid.

It starts off with the 'appearance' intro music, then plays the main 'Brinstar' theme before seamlessly transitioning into the 'Escape' theme that plays after you've destroyed the Mother Brain at the end of the game!

This is definitely my favorite Metroid remix ever!
