It's so peaceful up there in the moon... well, not so peaceful...

Today's track is The Moon from Duck Tales

Duck Tales was great platformer out of the NES era made by Capcom. Not only did they do a great job with the game and levels, the music was pretty awesome too, especially the Moon stage. It's so mystifying and calmed in the beginning of the song, something that resembles space itself. Then the real song starts giving us something more upbeat, living an adventure of a lifetime, IN SPACE!

This track is considered by many one of the best songs in a video game ever, and I think we can all really hear why.

Also brentalfloss has done a pretty funny lyrical rendition of the song.
