

Written by DarkTetsuya
Friday, 01 June 2012 15:39

Just a quick post to let people know what's going on this month, celebrating our 10th birthday! But before I get into that, don't forget there's the VOG Virtual Media Briefing tonight over at www.vognetwork.com with Rob Roberts and Bobby Blackwolf spilling the beans on the future of our new independent geek news network!

As for over here, I have a few surprises planned for our 10th birthday. For starters, 'Where are they now?!" will be returning... with what is quite possibly the most anticipated interview in the article's history! But ... you'll have to wait for Saturday the 23rd to see who it is!

And more than likely I'll have a few retro BEMANI-themed 'I Love That Song!' articles and maybe one or two others... so watch out for those, and quite possibly a video stumble article as well!

Fair word of warning you probably won't see any of this stuff until E3's over with... I really don't wanna compete with the deluge of information so I'd just as soon wait til the hype's died down. So stay tuned about Wednesday or so when the 10th anniversary celebration stuff officially kicks off!

Until then, see you at the press event at the VOG satellite!!