

It is another week here on Orange Lounge Radio and we start off tonight talking about some Microsoft News out of Gamescom. Fable 3 is announced, though we do not have too much news to go off of right now. What is also interesting is a new pay-as-you-go model for Fable 2. Could this be the future of how we pay for our video games? We discuss live in studio with our chatroom. Also, as a followup to the tragic loss of Robs 360 last week, a controversial statistic is released on the XBOX 360 failure rate... but microsofts response also surprises! It isn't all microsoft news tonight though, as we also talk about the new Warcraft expansion, and news about the Playstation 3 slim. Come on, you knew it all along. Also, comic books will soon come to the PSP... but does this mean we have to stop making fun of the PSP Go? Of course not! Also, in part B tonight... Rock Band news galore as well as our good ol mailbag. All this and more including your chatroom antics, phone calls, twitter topics and tons of discussion packed into a three hour show on the radio show where EVERY gamer has a voice: Orange Lounge Radio
