

Although our show gets interrupted many times for BREAKING NEWS about #spaceponchos , we seem to find the time to discuss all the E3 pre-buzz. Project Natal gets a new name of "Kinect" mere minutes before our taping tonight... what does our audience think of the new name? Rumors abound about the power of the new 3DS, and could one of the new launch games be Animal Crossing? Also, some rumors from last week get confirmed, including Keyboards in Rock Band, as well as Kingdom Hearts: ReCoded. We talk about the new Mortal Kombat dish, but do the hosts agree that it's a good move for the franchise? In Part B, we talk about Telltales announcement for a new Jurassic Park and Back to the Future game. Spongebob Squarepants gets an MMO... but sadly you might not be able to play it in the US (although some hosts think it is a good thing). Dreamcast games are confirmed on the download platforms, and who is suing who THIS week? All this and more with our special guest Miklotov, including our chatroom antics, live phone calls, twitter topics, e-mails and... MATCH GAME! It all happens on the show where EVERY gamer has a voice- Orange Lounge Radio!

{enclose OLR_370_061310.mp3}