

Orange Lounge Radio 327 - 6/14/09

Written by Deekman

Thursday, 18 June 2009 19:19

On tonights long episode, the gang takes calls throughout the show to discuss some of the latest gaming news including Nintendos controversial new game assisting feature and a mock religious protest from E3. In Part B tonight, we talk about leaks in the gaming industry. How much is too much, and how damaging can it really be to the industry? Then we open up the skypelines for open bar topics which of course leads to some con reports! All this and more including your chatroom antics, phone calls and e-mails on the show where EVERY gamer has a voice-- Orange Lounge Radio!

{enclose OLR_327_061409.mp3}