

Sorry for the delay! OLR went on an unexpected hiatus after the taping of this episode but returns on Sunday August 9th LIVE on All Games Radio (www.allgames.com) On Episode 332, we talked about in part A the sales of Dragon Quest 9. Also, how easy is the game "The Conduit" to hack, and is it dangerous to the online community? What could Microsoft be planning with their new music service when we already know last.fm is on the way to xbox live? In part B, we tackle the notion of premium clothing for Avatars on the XBOX 360, and if indie games are really being shut out of XBLA. Also, has Capcom really admitted an error with Street Fighter 4? All this and MORE including your phone calls, live chatroom antics and e-mails on the show where EVERY gamer has a voice: Orange Lounge Radio!

{enclose OLR_332_071909.mp3}