

Orange Lounge Radio 367 - 5/16/10

Written by Deekman

Thursday, 20 May 2010 05:53

After our gaming weeks, we start in Part A with some lively discussion about the new EA sports pass, with plenty of comments from our chatters. Walmart apparently wants to sell used games again, and let those rumors begin about the release dates for Playstation Move and Project Natal. We are excited to hear a new Castlevania game is on the way, but maybe a little less excited when we find out it is a puzzle game for the iPhone. We have to talk about KIDZ BOP DANCE PARTY in part B, but do not worry, it is quick and painless. Far less painful than the Railroad Tycoon movie probably will be. Steam comes out for the mac and with it a FREE deal. It is pretty hard to beat free. All this and MORE including chatroom antics, mailbag, twitter topics and the classic game of the week on the show where EVERY gamer has a voice-- Orange Lounge Radio!

{enclose OLR_367_051610.mp3}